

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A multicast distribution system of packet comprises routers connected with each other by a cable. Nodes are connected to each of the routers. The routers or the nodes is provided with a unit for relaying a packet having a list of the plurality of destination addresses and its undistributed bit map to the packet header to be transferred, according to the unicast route.